

FILM SCREENING GUIDE

THE PRICE OF FREE tells the true story of how Nobel Peace Prize winner Kailash Satyarthi has challenged the marginalisation of children for over three decades. From rescuing over 86,000 children from forced labour and slavery in India, to building a global movement for child rights that has made history, the film educates its audience about the reality of human rights abuses faced by children in the 21st century. It inspires us all with what is possible when we work together to create change.

This award-winning film (Sundance Film Festival's Grand Jury Prize, 2018) will be made available for you to watch on Wednesday 14th November, 2018 for free as part of the week of global action happening around the world. We hope as many people as possible will be able to learn about the injustices face by the most marginalised children, and what can be done to change this.

This short guide will give you all the information you need to organise your own screening of the worldwide released happening on the 14th November. There's also a short activity that can help you have conversations with your friends and family about the issues the film highlights.

"Children and youth have enough energy & power to make our society safe, but every hour some people are practising violence on children. Why? And till when? I cannot accept this."

SHUBHAM RATHORE – former child labourer, engineer and child rights activist

"The stories that were shared were harsh and they truly moved me. But the film also gave me hope since it shows the selfless work of activists, who were willing to give up their lives to save others."

KHIABET SALAZAR – National Youth Coordinator, 100 Million Peru

ABOUT THE FILM

Running time: 1 ½ hours | Available languages: English, Français, Español, Português and more

The details for watching the documentary for free will be shared ahead of the 14th November.

Register at actionweek.100million.org/take-part to make sure you receive the link to watch the film.

If you would like to find out more ways to get involved with the 100 Million campaign and this year's week of global action, visit actionweek.100million.org/take-part to join thousands of young people around the world demanding an end to the exploitation of children.

ORGANISING A SCREENING

- Think about where you would like to show it. Will it be at home, with friends and family, or is there a space in your community or school that you could use?
- You will need a WiFi connection to watch the film – check you have a reliable network!
- Let us know you're taking part! Visit actionweek.100million.org/take-part to register your screening and get access to the film

FILM ACTIVITY

1) BEFORE THE FILM

In the room, mark one end as 'strongly agree' the opposite 'strongly disagree' and the middle point as 'not sure'.

Then, read aloud some (or all) of the statements in the black box opposite and ask everyone to choose a place to stand in the room or hall based on how much they agree or disagree with what has been said. If the film is being screened where it's difficult to move around, ask your audience to raise their hands depending on what they think.

STRONGLY AGREE

NOT SURE

STRONGLY DISAGREE

You can ask people to share why they have chosen to stand in this place or raised their hand, and ask them more on what they think about the issue.

2) AFTER THE FILM

Using the same statements, repeat the activity above and see if there is a shift in how much people agree or disagree. If they feel differently, ask why they have changed their minds, or what they have learnt based on watching the film.

Finally, read out the statement in the red box. Ask those that show they agree, or strongly agree, what it is they are going to do!

WHAT NEXT?

If the film and activity has made viewers feel angry, sad, inspired or motivated, plan how to support them to turn these emotions into action. Join the 100 Million campaign at www.100million.org and take action to help end child labour (and more!), with regular actions every month, starting from Human Rights Day on the 10th December. You can also find other ways to involved in the week of global action at actionweek.100million.org.

I KNOW WHAT CHILD LABOUR IS

I AM NOT CONNECTED TO CHILD LABOUR

GIRLS ARE AT RISK OF ADDITIONAL
VIOLENCE IN CHILD LABOUR

I AM CONFIDENT
TALKING ABOUT THE
CAUSES OF CHILD LABOUR

THERE ARE MORE
THAN A MILLION
MARGINALISED CHILDREN

WE COULD STOP
CHILD LABOUR

I AM GOING TO TAKE ACTION TO HELP END CHILD
LABOUR